HIS CAREER IN THE NEWSPAPER WORLD AND IN PUBLIC LIFE.

Chiengo, July 27.-William Henry Smith died at socket this morning at his home in Lake Forest from pheumonia. He was formerly general man-ager of the Associated Press. The funeral will take place at 3:15 p. m. on Wednesday.

Mr. Smith was born at Austerlitz, Columbia County, N. Y. on December I, 1833. While he was still a child his parents removed to Homer. Ohio, and it was in that State that he received his education, the best that Commonwealth afforded. He taught school for a time and was afterward a tutor in a West Erie college. While he was yet a student an article of his attacking the prin of the Know-Nothing party attracted con-derable

Mr. Smith began his newspaper career on "The innati Times," now "The Times-Star," early in fifties," From the place of reporter he gradunity worked himself up to be managing editor of He began to take an active interest in politics and was one of the leaders among the young n in building up the Republican party, being as ed in this work with Rutherford B. Hayes, shard Smith and other men since famous.

HIS SERVICES IN THE WAR.

the opening of the Civil War he was engaged "The Cincinnati Gazette" as editorial writer, and during the war he took an active part in raising and forwarding sanitary supplies and in politcal work for strengthening the Government through the medium of the press. He was instrumental in uring the nomination and election to the Govemorship of John Brough, who was supported by the publicans and war Democrats, and in 1863 he became Governor Brough's private secretary.

In 1864 he was noninated by the Republican party as Secretary of State of Ohio, and was elected by a large majority. H's record in this office was so good that he was renominated by acclamation and re-elected. Part of his first term was contemporaneous with the first Administration of Rutherford B. Hayes as Governor of the State. A strong friendship was formed between Mr. Hayes Smith at that time, which grew closer and lasted until the death of the former.

While filling the office of Secretary of State, Mr. ith also acted as Fund Commissioner, having in charge the payment of interest on the State debt Before his second term expired he resigned in order to aid in establishing "The Cincinnati Overwork in this broke down his health, and he was forced to retire from all active work for several months.

THE WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Soon after the Western Associated Press was organized in 1969 Mr. Smith was urged to become general manager, and he held that place until the retirement of the association from the news field. He was nominally the manager of what was left of the association at the time of his death. In 1893, however, the new managers practically retired Mr Smith by the appointment of M. E. Stone as associate general manager.

Mr. Smith developed leased-wire system news distribution and introduced the use of th typewriter in telegraph work. He vastly increased improved the quality of the Associated Press foreign service. The association, when he took hold of it was struggling in debt. Mr. Smith removed headquarters from Cleveland to Chicago, m a short time placed it on a sound financia and revolutionized its news-gathering and distributing methods. So long, strong and efficient 411 he make it that in 1883 it was able to form an alliance on equal terms with the New-York Asso ciated Press, to which, before that time, it had been subordinate. Mr. Smith assumed the management of the united systems.

In Mr. Smith's career as manager of the Associated Press, extending over a period of twenty years, his detection to the interests of the clients and the members of the association was never questioned. He was justly recognized as a man of pure character and integrity.

COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS AT CHICAGO.

Mr. Smith was always a Republican, but never narrowly partisan. In his Associated Press work e never allowed personal party preferences or views to cloud or color the news reports. In report-ing political affairs his orders to the Associated Press were that exact facts only were to be recorded, but were that exact facts only were to be recorded, but as a private citizen he was strenuous in seeking to make his political views effective. He was always sagacious in analyzing the currents of political opinion and in forecasting results. As an instance of his shrewdness in this direction it may be mentioned that in December, INTA, he wrote a letter to Mr. Hayes, in which he prelicted that the Republican ticket in 1878 would be Hayes and Wheeler. Mr. Hayes always placed great dependence upon Mr. Smith's judgment.

President Hayes wanted Mr. Smith to be Postmaster-General in his Cabinet, or to accept a first-master-General in his Cabinet, or to accept a first-master-General in his Cabinet, or to accept a first-lass mission to Europe, but Mr. Smith felt that accould not afford to surrender his place at the head of the Associated Press for a temporary pub-tic office. Finally President Hayes made him Col-sector of Customs at Chicago, an office which he could fill without resigning from the Associated ouis fill without resigning from the Associate. Press. He conducted the office on practical Civi Service Reform principles. He was also instrumental in exposing the rascality and corruption which had attended the construction of the Federal Building in Chicago. He discovered and exposed a vast system of under-valuation by Custom House brokers in New-York. While he was Collector he was required to disburse more than $1,000,000 for the efection of the Courthouse and Postoffice in Chicago.

PRIVATE LIFE AND LITERARY WORK.

Few men had such a strong hold on their friends and acquaintances as Mr. Smith. Those who knew were most attached to him, and in all the relations of life he enjoyed universal esteem. President Hayes showed his appreciation of Mr. Smith by appointing him his literary executor, and for the last two years he was engaged in writing a the last two years he was engaged in writing a history of the life of General Hayes and his administration as President, a work which he hoped to complete this summer.

He was the author of a number of historical works reating to Ohio and Western history, some of which are standard in the public libraries of the West. Notable among his works are his 'St. Clair Papers' (2 vols. Cheismani, 182), which give the early history of Ohio and the country west of the Alleghamy Mountains in an exhaustive form. He was also the author of the biography of Charles Hammond.

NO ILL EFFECTS FOLLOWED THE JOURNEY TO NEWPORT.

THE SICK MAN RESTING COMFORTABLY AND AP-PARENTLY MAKING STEADY PROGRESS TOWARD COMPLETE RECOVERY.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Newport, R. I., July 27 .- At The Breakers today everybody wore an air of cheerfulness and satisfaction with the world at large and the situation in the house in particular which indicated plainly a favorable condition for the master of the house, Cornelius Vanderbilt. At noon, when a reporter called, Dr. McLane had left the premises for a little time, and had left no message behind. While nothing definite could be learned regarding the sick man's condition, the impression was strong in the house that his improvement during the night and his general condition after the ordeal of the trip from New-York were such as to surprise and greatly gratify the physicians

This evening, in response to an inquiry, Dr. McLane said that Mr. Vanderbilt had passed a remarkably good night Sunday after his arrival here, his condition had been excellent dur ing the entire day, he was then resting comfortably, and there was every indication of another favorable night to-night.

Mr. Vanderbilt's general condition is satisfactory and the outlook decidedly encouraging for continued improvement and steady progress

When Chauncey M. Depew reached home at 7 o'clock last evening he found a telegram awaiting him from Newport which said that Cornelius Vanderbilt had not suffered the slightest discomfort from the trip to Newport, and that his condition had been growing steadily better ever since his Mr. Depew said that Mrs. Vanderbilt and arrival. Mr. Depew said that Mrs. Vanderbilt and Dr. McLane would remain with Mr. Vanderbilt, and that the physician would only leave Newport when it was assured that Mr. Vanderbilt was really beyond the need of his attention.

It was reported yesterday that Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., who has been ill with rheumatism, has decided to take a European trip in the hope of gaining relief from his trouble. Young Mr. Vanderbilt, as is well known, is engaged to marry Miss Grace Wilson. The marriage was postponed owing to his sickness. He is improved in health, but the physicians who have attended him have urged that he take a long rest, and spend a few months in European travel. Mr. Vanderbilt, jr., has not vished to take a trip, but now, it is sald, he believes it may benefit him, and will go abroad as soon as it is a certainty that his father will not need his presence here.

SIR JOHN E. MILLAIS DYING.

THE END SAID TO BE ONLY A MATTER OF HOURS.

London, July 27 .- One of the watchers at the bed side of Sir John Millais, president of the Royal Academy, who some time ago underwent the operation of tracheotomy, and has since been constant under medical treatment, informed a representative of "The Daily News" this evening that Sir John's death is only a question of hours. The condition of his throat renders it impossible for him to take any nourishment.

ROOF GARDENS HAVE THE FIELD.

There is not much choice of amusements left for New-York people this week. One opera company still sings in German, there is a burlesque, the Eden Musée has concerts and waxworks, and the rest is vaudeville-and the most of the vaudeville is on the roofs. With so many roof gardens, there is really not much room for anything else. They is room for the suspicion that the roof-garden bus ness is somewhat overdone, and perhaps nobedy more thoroughly convinced of it than the manager of the roof gardens themselves.

The blevele rolls in everywhere, and now rolled into a roof garlen, that of Proctor's Pleasure Palace, where the experiment of an elevated rink is now to be tried. The entertainers down below it the theatre are John W. Ransone, the Cee Mees, Rose Meiville, Dan Collyer, assisted by Rosa Mack, in a character sketch: Dick Gorman, Sully and Gallagher, burlesque boxers; the Vantine sisters, Grace Florence, instrumentalist; the Clocklers, baton jugglers; Ella May, and Clivette, the ma-gician.

The programme of the week for the continuous performance at Proctor's Theatre, Twenty-third-st., includes Terry and Elmer, Richmond Glenroy, Clark and Williams, the Vikings, Dot Haywood, Gladys Luther, Madge Mack, Laura Wyble, Dawley and Waldron, in character changes; Harry C. Per-kins, Ida Lillian Abrams, balladist; Emma Cotrelly, juggler; Bartell and Morris, William McRobie, character singer; Koppe, club juggler, and Albene and La Braut.

There is little change at the Eden Musée, sumer or winter. The orchestra chan gramme, and the waxworks are shifted around and new ones are put in, as the history of the world develops, but the character of the place is always the same. There is nothing to be recorded of it this week, therefore, except that everything goes on

On the top of the Madison Square Garden this week the entertainers are Press Eldridge, Caroline Hull, Maud Raymond, singer of character songs, and Al Wilson, who makes his first appearance in and Al Wilson, this roof garden.

A long programme serves to entertain the itors at the Grand Central Palace roof garden. In the current list are Elvarette, Kuno's miniature circus, Nini Diva, Miss Nellie Sylvester, assisted by Master Edward Russell; Mile, Vera Doré, Meyer Cohen, Valdo, Mile, Proto and Marie and Madeleine.

Many pleasing performers furnish forth the stage of the roof garden at Koster & Bial's. Oceana stood on her head there for the first time last night. This gratifying effort of hers was seconded by those of the Rogers brothers, the Manhattan Comedy Four, Nellie Lawrence and Lena May Crews, Edgar Ely, Ida Russell, Mile Catherina Bartho, Josephine Sabel, Murphy and Turner and the Versatile Trio. The vitascope also continues to whirl.

The drizzly and moderately cool evenings of last week made the Olympia roof garden one of the most comfortable places in town. It can carry on business undisturbed when every other roof gar den in town has to close. This week Fregoli con-tinues to give imitations and Mirs Rachel Walker to sing, while numerous other performers of var-ous sorts fill out the programme.

THE POPULIST CONVENTION.

TWO TAILS WAGGING THE DOG

From The Kansas City Star.

In any event there will be two tickets in the field representing the financial policy of the free-silver advocates. The Democrats would support electors standing for Bryan and Sewail, and the Populists would vote for electors who stand for Bryan and Watson. These separate electoral tickets would command nearly equal strength in several of the States, and in some of them at least give the Republicans the election by plurality. The intention of the Convention, no doubt, was to make the Populist tail wag the Democratic dog. But the effect has been to create a dog with two tails, and in the wagging process the body will be mercilessly lashed on both sides. From The Kansas City Star.

A SILVERITE'S VIEW.

From The Nashville American. From The Nashville American.

The outcome of this Convention cannot conduce to the union of all the advocates of free silver coinage, cannot assist in forming all of them into a great army with which to oppose Mark Hanna's syndicate candidate, but may cause confusion and disorder among those who have professed a willingness to lay aside other issues for the present in order to win a victory for bimetallism.

BRYAN'S DILEMMA.

From The Boston Advertiser. From the Boston Advertiser.

Bryan cannot accept the St. Louis nomination without such palpable treachery to his associate on the Chicago ticket as will make the whole country cry shame upon him. He cannot deciline the nomination without giving up the last vestige of hope for success at the polls.

IS HE POPULIST OR DEMOCRAT?

From The Utica Press

Is Bryan more of a Democrat or more of a Populist? Which? If the former, then he will stand for that party and repudiate the other. If the latter, he will decline the honors proffered at Chicago and accept those from the tumult at St. Louis. On which platform does he stand? The crown of thorns is pressing his own head just now and it is for him to say if he will cling to the cross of Democracy or Populism, and the indications are that he will be crucified on one or both this fall. From The Utica Press

THEY WOULD DESTROY CREDIT. From The New-York Staats-Zeltung.

From The New-York Staats-Zeitung.

The Democrats, as well as the Populists, have turned their backs on that groundwork of principles upon which the founders of the Union have sought to bring the modern civilized State, based upon right and justice, into harmony with Republican institutions. A government grounded upon the Democratic or Populistic platform would destroy the very foundation of public and private credit—it would destroy because it would hopelessly upset and confound all the relations created by commerce, trade and labor within the Nation.

FATAL STORM AT PITTSBURG.

TWO MEN KILLED AND GREAT DAMAGE DONE IN AND NEAR THE CITY.

Pittsburg, July 27 .- A cyclonic storm burst upon this city at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, which in a few minutes caused the death of two persons, the fatal injury of another and a loss of probably $100,000 throughout Allegheny County.

Several churches in the hill district were partially unroofed, and one was struck by lightnning. A number of smaller houses were also unroofed, the streets were flooded, sewers discharged their overflow into houses, and some of the streetcars were compelled to stop for periods ranging from half an hour to an hour and a half. Hundreds of trees were uprooted and many lawns laid waste. Chimneys and windows were demolished in all directions.

At Sugar Camp Grove, a picnic ground on the West Pennsylvania branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Aspinwall, where the Eighth Ward Fishing and Hunting Club, of Allegheny, was encamped, a limb of a sycamore tree fell upon the commissary tent, in which a number of the members of the club had taken refuge from the storm. John Figus, of No. 11 Pine-st. Allegheny, was instantly killed. George Miller, Allegheny, was instantly killed. George Miller, of No. 226 Main-st., Allegheny, had his back broken, and cannot recover, and Jacob Metz and a man named O'Connell were badly hurt.

In Pittsburg John Auflader, a teamster for the Williams Brick Company, was struck by a falling signboards, and died within five minutes. The storm seized the steeple of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church, at Kirkpatrick-st. and Wylle-ave., took the big bell along and dropped it into a neighboring yard. A 100-foot stack at the brick yards of Booth & Flinn was blown down.

The temperature, which had risen before the storm to 33 degrees, fell in a few minutes to 71 degrees. The fury of the wind was spent in less than ten minutes. It was followed by several storms of less violence in the evening. During the eight hours ending at midnight 1.43 inches of rain fell.

McKeesport, Penn., July 21.-The amount of dam age done in this city and vicinity by the high water in the Monongahela and Youghlogheny rivers Saturday night and yesterday is estimated at $20,000. In the town of Dravesturg, immediately opposite this city, on the Monongahela, water covered the first floors of seventy-five houses. Along the Youghlugheny, between Ninth and Thirteenth sts. and reaching up to Market-st., all the houses, in-cluding the waterworks, were flooded, in many the second story being inundated. This morning the rivers are running full within their banks, large pools of water are to be seen in the bottom lands. Dravesburg presents a bad appearance and it will take a week or two to clean the town up The Dawes-Wood fronworks, which were compelled to shut down, will partially resume opera ions the middle of the week, but it will be three weeks before they can get the furnaces ready work full.

Cleveland, July 27.-A tornado struck Beulah Park plente grounds at 9:30 p. m. Sunday, destroying eight or nine houses, a large tabernacle and other valuable property. The loss is estimated at many thousands of dollars. The grounds were well filled with people, but, beyon! being scake! by the pour ing rain, no one was harmed. The storm first struck the waterworks tower, and demolished it as though it were a bunch of sticks. The large taber-nacle, recently erected for the religious campmeetings, was wrecked; not a timber was left standing. A house was lifted from its foundations and moved twelve feet. The large bridge over the ravine at Beulah Park was carried 300 feet, and the chimneys were blown off the Cody Hotel. The boarders took fright and started for the tabernacie, but just before they reached it the big building was demolished.

At Euclid Beach Park the Crystal Maze was damaged to the extent of $300. During the storm a tidal wave raised the water four feet, and the steamers Duluth and Superior were almost blown from the water.

Mich gan yesterday afternoon did much damage in many places. At Northville the heavy rainfall caused the River Rouge to leave its banks, flooding the shops of the Globe Furniture Company, and the shops of the Globe Furniture Company, and earrying away lumber and many small buildings. The losses will aggregate $10,000. In and around Mount Clemens lightning did much demage. The house of Mrs. Christopher Scoof was struck and all the inmates badly shocked.

Warren reports that many barns were struck by Eghtning and burned near there. John Measles's house was struck by a boit, and Measles and a Mrs. Diehl were severely injured.

At Three Rivers the storm resembled a tornado. The streets are blocked by trees that were uprooted, the roof of the Methodist Episcopal Church was partially form off, and the electric light and telephone systems nearly demolished. Reports from the country cast and west of Three Rivers say the damage has been heavy. Fruit trees were stripped bare, and many fields of grain are flat and probably runed.

The section around Battle Creek also suffered severely. The house and barn of Ransom Markham were blown down, and Markham was severely injured.

Homer, Mich., July II.—A terrible windstorm struck this village last evening. Roofs were lifted houses partly blown away, barns tipped over, and half the fine maple trees about the town were blown down. The plate-glass windows in IZun & Co's store were blown in. The worst part of the storm seemed to have passed a little to the northwest of the town, and many of the finest farm-houses in this vicinity were in its path. There were several marray escapes of persons caught out in the storm, but as yet no one is reported as injured.

Milwaukee, July Z.—Two severe storms swept over the eastern portion of the State yesterday and last night. Many places are reported to have been struck by lightning, nd much damage has been done. There was a small cloudburst over this city last night, and the rain fell in such quantities that the streets were filled with water, and cellars in the downtown districts are flooded. At thur Furstel, a six-year-old boy, was severely burned by touching a trolley-pole which was charged by touching a trolley-pole which was charged by the electric storm.

Galena, Ill. July Z.—Galena experienced another flood last night, in many respects as disastrous as that of two menths ago. The storm was general north of Galena, and swelling streams caused a rapid rise of the Galena R ver, which soon reached high-water mark flooding cellars and lower floors of buildings in Comperce and Main six. Much of the property which suffered from the late flood had been reparted, and was a second time wrecked from bridges, just completed, were again washed away; cellars and cisterns overflowed, corn fields were laid low, and considerable lamage to crops is reported. The Illinois Central Railroad is badly damaged, and trains will run over the Great Western for a few days. The Northwestern cannot run any trains until the road and bridges are repaired.

Dibuque, Jown, July Z.—One of the heavest rainstorms ever known in Dubuque occurred here last night. A tornado passed over the city, followed by torrents of rain. The streets are blocked with mud, and Seventeenth st. is impassable. One of the power-houses was struck by lightning and the dynamo burned out. No cars were running on this line for two hours. The damage in the city is great.

MINING TOWNS CUT OFF FROM SUPPLIES. Denver, July 27 .- As a sequel to the series of cloudbursts there is a new and serious trouble confronting the people. It will take a month or even more for the railroads reaching several of the most important mining camps to make sufficient repairs to enable them to run trains. He was in a hurry, to be sure, but a long ride brings with it a good appetite.

General Harrison was a man of few words las night. All that he had to say was that he had ome to New-York to attend the meetings of the committee appointed by the last Presbyterian General Assembly in regard to the advisability of the Mission Board's selling the big Presbyterian ing at No. 156 Pifth-ave., and also to attend to some business macters of his own; and that he intended to return to the Adirondacks on Thursda, or Frkiay In regard to the political campaign he and that really all that he wished to say now we that he was decidedly for McKinley and Hobart. CARDINAL TASCHEREAU SINKING.

HIS PHYSICIANS BELIEVE DEATH TO BE CLOSE

Quebec, July 27.-Cardinal Taschereau's condition changed for the worse this evening and his physicians were hastily summoned. Excessive weakness renders his cordition alarming and the end is fast approaching. His private physician says that his days are numbered. Late to-night the Cardinal was a little better, but his pulse was feeble and unsettled. The Bishop of Brooklyn and his sec-retary, the Rev. I. J. Barret, visited the Cardinal's home to-day, but did not see him, owing to his ill-

ENTERTAINMENT AT CHAUTAUQUA. Chautauqua, N. Y., July 27 (Special).-The busy day began here at the early hour of 7.45, with "A Study in Hebrews xi." The little people's meeting at 8:30 was led by Mrs. B. T. Vincent, in Kellogg Hall. At 10, under the department of church peda-gogy, Mrs. Mary Foster gave an interesting lec-"The World and the Word." At 11 o'clock Dr. Levi Gilbert's lecture. "The Larger Christianity," was heard, and though it showered heavily during that hour, Dr. Glibert had a large and attentive audience. At 12 o'clock prayer-meeting was held by the W. C. T. U., the topic being "Temperance Work in Japan." At 3 o'clock Pro-"Temperance Work in Japan." At 3 o'clock Professor John Williams White, of Harvard University, began his course of lectures on "Old Greek Life." At 4 o'clock in the Hall of Philosophy, Mrs. E. P. Ewing, of Rochester, N. Y., gave a few brief remarks on "Household Science and Economics." Following Miss Ewing were two papers on the subject ably treated by Dr. Mary Greene, of Michigan, and Miss Kinney of the Teachers' College, of New-York. At 5 o'clock there was a lecture. "France at the Outbreak of the Revolution," by Professor Shailer Matthews.

With evening came the anual prize pronunciation match. The first prize was won by Miss Julia Stevens, of Syracuse, and the second by Miss Twinning, of Buffalo.

VETERAN OF "THE BOSTON TRANSCRIPT." Boston, July 7.-William Durant, treasurer of "The Boston Transcript" Company, yesterday reached the age of eighty years. It was a time of special interest to "The Transcript" folk, for even those who are oldest in the service cannot recall the time when Mr. Durant was not identified with the paper, he term having extended over more than sixty-two years. Friends in Paris added to his happiness by sending a felicitious message under the sea, and the birthday observance was one to delight him in every way, particularly as it was unexpected. Mr. Durant is still actively engaged in the performance of the duties of treasurer of the corporation. special interest to "The Transcript" folk, for even carpenter, of No. 644 East Eleventh-st., who has carpenter, of No. 444 Past Presentation, who has been ill for some time, committed suicide last night by taking carbolic acid. He was found by Policeman Murphy, of the Union Market Station, almost unconscious, and was removed to Bellevue Hospital in an ambulance, where he died soon afterward.

STAND BY YOUR GUNS.

DON'T ABANDON YOUR PRINCIPLES TO GAIN RE-CRUITS.

To the Editor of The Tribune Sir: I have just read the editorial in this morning's issue, entitled "Mr. Whitney's Mistake," and have been so pleased with its amiable temper and its incontrovertible logic that I must say so.

It is just what I have been waiting to see, and puts the true issue fairly before your readers. Sound money is a necessity of an honest govern-ment; no doubt of it. So is the keeping of contracts; so is the administration of justice; so is the defence and protection of the citizens, their homes and their privileges; so is wise legislation, and so is official honesty, and so is competency in high places. But the one central and chief principle at saue to-day is protection to home industries, and lent for the Nation's expenses bankruptey is inevitable, no matter what kind of coin jingles in our pockets. There will not be any coin long of any kind if the present system con-coin long of any kind if the present system tinues.

Your editorial touches the keynote and "strikes twelve." as all your editorials on the National question have done. If discontented Democrats wish to vote for an honest, capable and American candidate, Republicans will gladly receive them and give them a fair count and a thought of commendation. But no truckling, no surrender of principles, no suppression of what is believed to hold first place among issues, must be looked for by Mr. Whitney or any other Democrat, in order to secure votes. Truly yours,

Montclair, N. J., July 25, 1896.

DON'T ABANDON PRINCIPLE.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The political expressions in to-day's Tribune meet my views exactly. Our fight was already practically won on Protection; and for the victorous Republicans to abate one jot of their belief in order to conciliate some Democrats, who had been driven from their party by its surrender to Populism, and had nowhere else to go, doesn't seem politic. Such a course would be sure to lose us politic. Such a course would be sure to lose us more Republicans than we could gain from the homeless Democrats. The Republican party is sound on all the phases of the money question, and for many years has been the only safety of the country on these subjects. It is also sound on a revenue system, and on raising revenue enough to enable us to have any money question; and it must remain so. Besides, there is no honest-money Democrat who does not know that the only chance for honest money as against Bryan is in the election of McKinley. Yours.

MRS. BARTELL'S DOUBLE TESTAMENT.

IN ONE WILL SHE LEAVES $40,000 TO HER BROTHER, AND IN THE SECOND SHE DOES

NOT MENTION HIM. Two wills of Emilie Bartell, who died on July 16, leaving an estate worth over $100,009, were filed in office of the Surrogate yesterday. A contest in the courts is likely to result. One of the wills is dated April, 1891, and the other September, 1894. In the first the testatrix leaves to her brother, Leopold Books, will be a september. Rothschild, $40,000, which she says is valuable services he has rendered to me for many years in all my business affairs." She also leaves to her friend, Frederick W. Seiler, $5,000. The residue is divided among other relatives. In the later will no mention whatever is made of In the later will no mention whatever is made of Leopold Rothschild, who in the first will was a logatee to the extent of $10,000. The estate is divided among relatives in different proportions from the first will, and the residue, which is estimated to be worth $20,000, goes to Frederick W. Seller, who by the first will received only $5,000. The testatrix also leaves $500 to each of the following institutions: Mount Sinal Hospital, New-York Juvenile Asylum, Hebrew Orphan Asylum and the Congregation Shaaer Hashomajim.

THE STETSON WILL CASE. A REPORT THAT THE DEATHBED BEQUEST IS

TO BE ALLOWED. July 27.-It is understood that Judge

Grant, of the Suffolk Probate Court, this afterno decided to allow the will of John Stetson, jr. The will will probably be probated at the regular sitting of the court next Thursday. It gives the whole estate to the testator's wife, Stokes Stetson, who has since died. The only question which remained unsettled in the mind of Court when the hearing was closed was whether there had been a legal attestation of the will. Upon there had been a legal attestation of the will. Upon this question counsel submitted their legal authorities this morning.

The allowance of the will would entitle the mother of Mrs Catherine Stokes Stetson, who is mother of Mrs Catherine Stokes Stetson, who is Mrs. Stokes, of New-York, to the property as the heir of her daughter, who died intestate. The contestants of the will undoubtedly would take an appeal from a decree allowing the will. This they may legally do at any time within thirty days after the decree has been entered in the Probate Court. The contestants are John Stetson, sr., the testator's father, and Adah Richmond. Judge Grant will neither deny nor affirm the truth of the above report.

TESTIMONY IN THE DAVIS CASE. Referee Underhill, in the Surrogate's office, yes-Referee t intermin, in the currogate's value, justification from the currogate's value of the tendance tendance on the mail of the will of his wife. Emily K. Daviz. Mrs. Davis died Railroad forty-eight minutes' ride from the Grand Central nept. Office, 16 East 42d-et. January 11, 1891. Her maiden name was Emily K. Kuriger. One child was born to the couple, and was also named James Miliage Davis.

By her will, dated April 24, 1891, Mrs. Davis bequeathed all her property, consisting of an equity, estimated at $10,000, in the house in which she lived. No. Il West Twenty-sixth-st., to her son, expressiy excluding her husband. Another child, Hazel Davis, who was born in 1833, it is now al-Hazel Davis, who was born in 1833, it is now alleged, is entitled to a half share of the property. Mrs. Davis secured a divorce from her husband in another State in 1832. Davis opposes the probate of the will en the ground that the document was executed prior to his marriage to the testatrix. Police Commissioner Parker, who drew the will and was one of the subscribing witnesses to it, testified that it was drawn and executed on April 24, 1831. He said that Mrs. Davis declined to leave ther husband anything. Mrs. Caroline Hoyt, of No. 55 West Twenty-sixth-si, who also signed the will as a witness, corroburated Commissioner Parker's testmony. The further hearing was adjourned until Weinerday, Gratz Nathan and William McCorkle appeared in support of the will.

SISTER CARMELITA'S WILL AGAIN. Justice Andrews, in the Supreme Court, yesterlay appointed William H. Loughran guardian of Mary Isabela Sullivan, in a suit brought to establish the will of Mary Frances Baker, who was known as Sister Carmelta. The will was contested by a nephew. Richard White Hennessey, but was admitted to probate. Hennessey now brings a suit for a partition of the property. All the estate, yalued at $160.00, was left to Mary Sullivan.
